THE ABSENTEES

One of the significant trends that this report captures is the impact of the pandemic on the performance of the dealer community. As we went deeper and our interactions became richer and wider, another reality came to the fore. Many recused from participating in the survey and did not wish to discuss their performance. This included many well-deserving leaders as well who have been regulars on our list in the past. The virus has singed everybody's business and has spared none but a significant number of dealers did not wish to talk about it. In most cases, financial details of their business was not updated either on their respective website or at the government's MCA website. Without their cooperation, we still tried to find their relevant information from all possible reliable sources. We succeeded in most cases.

The reluctance to adopt complete transparency for putting the key data around the performance of the business stems from the fact that some of these dealers attained deserving brand value and scalability.

With our estimation of the business and revenue, we would like to recognize those dealers who declined to participate in the list for the reasons better known to them. We strongly feel that the list may not be accurate and exhaustive without the participation of this dealership group.
